Dear Parent,

I welcome you to the new academic year that has come with a new hope that after the dark clouds of COVID-19, a silver lining of getting back to normal life from the new normal will appear soon. Each year will provide important transitions and the acquisition of new skills that will enhance each student's ability to apply learning in many ways.

BPSG is committed to provide a challenging and rigorous curriculum that helps each student progress at a developmentally appropriate rate and provides a safe environment for all students. "In this life we cannot do great things. We can only do small things with great love." - Mother Teresa.

In her quote, Mother Teresa very powerfully captures important wisdom about how to approach life (and schooling) to make it more fulfilling and significant. Teaching and learning offer us all numerous opportunities to focus on a number of "small things" that culminate over time to produce students that are prepared to do the "great things" of life. With this in mind, ultimately as a school community, we are judged by the actions of our students and the way new students learning connects and impacts the world beyond our school. We are committed for integrating the arts into learning opportunities because we believe that we learn better with and through the arts. Our mission statement reflects this commitment:

"With the support of parents and teachers, students explore, express and excel academically and creatively. In partnership with our community, we integrate the arts to ignite enthusiasm, deepen understanding, and enhance learning for every student."

We value the social and emotional development of each child as they transit from their primary years into early adolescence. I value life-long learning and aim to make your child's learning experience at BPSG engaging and exciting.

As the principal of BPSG, I believe that it is my responsibility to maintain and to continue to build a supportive and collaborative spirit at our school. Together as a school community, we will build on the traditions of the past and meet the challenges of the future in innovative and exciting ways.
